

START

Subsample is a part extracted from a sample that represents some specific component of the original sample, e.g. a mineral separate, soluble constituent,

